Jake woke up in his hotel in Paris and looked at his alarm clock. It was 8.30. It was late! He had a flight to Milan at 10.30, and an important meeting with Signor Rossini. He didn't have time to have a shower. He got dressed quickly, didn't eat any breakfast, packed his bag and hurried down-stairs.

As he checked out of the hotel, the receptionist gave him a message but he didn't look at it. He put it in his pocket, ran out of the hotel and got into a taxi.

The traffic on the way to the airport was terrible and the taxi cost a lot of money. He didn't arrive at the airport until ten past ten. He checked in, showed his boarding pass and ticket and rushed to the plane. He got on the airport just in time.

He found his seat and sat down. Five minutes later the plane took off. He remembered the message in his pocket. He took it out and read it. It was from his secretary and the message was: 'Don't go to Milan today!'

Duncan needed a holiday and he decided to rent an old cottage in the country. It belonged to an old farmer called Mr Trent.

When Duncan arrived it was dark but he noticed that there was a light on in the house. There was a sign next to the door: Black Bob Cottage. The door was open. It was very cold inside the cottage. There was a man in one of the armchairs. He was a very fat man with long black hair and a huge black beard. 'Come in,' he said, when he saw Duncan. 'Have a drink.' Duncan noticed that the man only had three fingers on his hand. He took the glass and drank some of the beer. Then he sat down in the sofa. He suddenly felt very tired and he fell asleep.

When he woke up, it was morning. He was still on the sofa. Someone knocked at the door and Duncan went to open it. 'Good morning, Mr Peters,' said the man at the door. 'I'm sorry I wasn't here when you arrived last night. Did you find the key all right?' 'The door was open,' said Duncan. 'There was another man in here.'

The farmer looked surprised. 'What was he like?' he said.

'He was very fat,' said Duncan. 'And he had a big black beard.'

'That sounds just like Black Bob,' said the farmer and he laughed.

'Black Bob?' said Duncan. 'Is this his cottage?'

'Well, it was his cottage,' said the farmer. 'He lived here a long time ago.'

'Has he got only three fingers on one hand?'

'Yes, but how did you know that?'
